Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. §121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claims 1-17, drawn to the special technical feature of a fusion protein comprising an IgG Fc component, an HIV envelope component, and a C3d component.

Group II, claim 18, drawn to the special technical feature of a method of inducing an immune response in a mammal comprising administering the fusion protein.

Group III, claims 19 and 20, drawn to the special technical feature of a nucleic acid encoding the fusion protein and a vector comprising the nucleic acid.

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

As set forth above, each Group requires a special technical feature that is not required by any of the other groups. Therefore, the Inventions lack the same special technical feature.

The special technical feature defining the invention is drawn to a fusion protein comprising an IgG Fc component, an HIV envelope component, and a C3d component. This special technical feature lacks an inventive step in the art. Ross et al. (2001) teach a gp120-C3d fusion protein. Capon et al. (US 5,455,165; Oct. 3, 1995) teach fusion proteins in which the variable region of one immunoglobulin chain has been substituted by the ligand binding region of a first receptor such as CD4 for use in the modulation of cell adhesion (column 5-6) and targeting the fusion protein to tissues infected by HIV (col. 4, lines 60-67). Thus, the technical feature does not make a contribution over the prior art. Accordingly, any subsequent patentably distinct invention lacks unity of invention with the first group, see 37 CFR § 1.476 (d).

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. §103(a) of the other invention.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. § 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder.

Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. § 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
